

Identity Theft Protection

powered by  defend-id

Identity theft is a serious problem for the victim...and for your company.

If an employees' identity is compromised while they're on a company-owned device on your network, your data suddenly becomes vulnerable and the probability of a cyber-attack on your company increases exponentially.

It takes an average of 52 hours to restore an identity. And because banks, government agencies, and other relevant companies operate during regular business hours, those 52 hours are on your time.

Enter defend-id. Identity theft protection from defend-id helps secure your network by monitoring your enrolled employees, thus protecting common entry points for hackers—your employees. But if an employee happens to fall victim, defend-id will work on their behalf to restore their identity.
